Demco® Books Give You Wings Self-Adhesive Wall Decals

Make your library a destination readers will want to return to again and again with this fun and interactive wall mural

We've all seen the popular vacation photos featuring tourists posing in front of a giant pair of wings. Our reading-themed wall mural is an easy way to bring a similar interactive photo op into your library! It includes an 8½" H x 38" L ribbon banner and two 22" W (at widest point) x 44" L wings. The woven polyester fabric won't stretch, shrink, sag, or yellow. Repositionable adhesive sticks firmly to most smooth surfaces, including painted walls, block walls, wood, glass, metal, and more.

Owls

Owls do not have eyelids. Instead they have long, tube-shaped eyes and can only see straight ahead. But they have binocular vision that allows them to focus on their prey with both eyes.

There are about 200 different species of owls. At 6 inches tall, the Elf Owl is the smallest. The Great Gray Owl can grow to 32 inches tall.

Barn Owls eat up to 1,000 mice per year — and they swallow them whole!

Owls are zygodactyls — their feet have two forward-facing toes and two backward-facing toes.

Some owls don't hoot. Barn Owls hiss and Eastern Screech Owls whirry like a horse.

1,000 Books Before Kindergarten

Start families on the path to early literacy success and promote a lifelong love of reading!

Tips for Reading to Young Children

Have Fun
Use different voices, motions, facial expressions, and props (toys, stuffed animals, or other comfort item) to bring the story to life.

Snuggle Up
Hold your child in your lap or next to you, include a favorite blanket, stuffed animal, or other comfort item.

Talk About It
Point out things in the pictures. Ask your toddler questions about the pictures and story. Share stories about yourself.

Stay Flexible
It's okay to skip pages, read back to front, just look at the pictures, or not finish a book. You can also read aloud while your child plays with other toys.

Be Prepared
Keep books close at hand—throughout your home, in the diaper bag, in the car—for sharing anytime. A few minutes throughout the day add up to a big benefit for your child.

Repeat Favorites
Children love to hear their favorite stories over and over again—the repetition helps them gain important literacy skills.

Record Your Success
Use a reading log from your library or the 1,000 Books Before Kindergarten app. Enjoy a fun treat with your child when you reach milestones (100, 250, ...).
