

Red Hat Smart Management + Satellite as a Service Consulting Subscription

Fully leverage the power and performance of your Satellite environment.

Effective infrastructure management is critical to success in today's fast-paced business world. Equally critical is finding a solution that will maximize your return on investment, provide ongoing support and drive maximum benefits for your organization. We've combined the power of Red Hat's Satellite infrastructure management product with our team of infrastructure management Subject Matter Experts to create this 12-month consulting subscription service. This subscription offers a comprehensive approach to implementing and managing your Satellite environment.

Our team of specialists will provide expert support throughout the year, ensuring your infrastructure management platform is driving maximum benefits, such as security, compliance, and performance, to your organization. We will assist with installing and configuring Satellite across your infrastructure environment and then operate and maintain it, so you can have peace of mind that your technology is always working at its best.

Here's what you can expect from our service:

General Purpose Satellite SME support hours

White-boarding, road-mapping, best practices review, strategizing and planning for Satellite, Linux, and infrastructure management

Security and compliance review and implementation support

Ongoing operations and maintenance support

Trouble-shooting for any issues that arise

Training and Knowledge Transfer, so you can get the most out of your investment.
