This price index will be updated with every approved contract update to reflect the most current price list. Freight is FOB Destination, prepaid dock to dock within the 48 contiguous US.

This is a national contract, so delivery and installation wages vary by state, product line, size, logistics, scope, and level of difficulty. Click here for a current list of Authorized Dealers.

Dock Delivered

The definition of dock delivery is shipping to a dock that can accept a full truckload. Driver does not assist in unloading.

Inside Delivery

Inside delivery is negotiated separately between the customer and the dealer. There are 2 options.

Carrier inside delivery - deliver to first enclosure immediately adjacent to the delivery vehicle. Inside delivery and lift gate services must be listed on the purchase order. Charges for inside delivery and lift gate will be $50 each or based on order volume for less than 5 pieces. We reserve the right to increase this upon 30-day notice with standard commercial practices. Other carrier accessorial charges will need to be quoted on a case-by-case basis.

Dealer assisted inside delivery - product gets shipped to a dealer/installer dock and is negotiated separately with the dealer. If an elevator is unusable, additional charges may be assessed.

Standard Delivery and Installation

The definition of standard delivery and installation is unpacking, full assembly, ready-to-use, installed in designated room, and dunnage removed. Standard charges will be during normal hours of operation, without union wages or prevailing wage. This service is often charged in conjunction with inside delivery. If an elevator is unable to be used on an installation for any location above or below ground floor, additional charges may be assessed. Installation charges are negotiated separately between the customer and the authorized dealer.

Non-Standard Delivery

Union wages

Prevailing Wages

Anchoring to wall or floor (per state guidelines)

Non-standard delivery types will be an additional charge and need to be disclosed in the quote process so the proper reporting and paperwork can be completed by the authorized dealer.

Variables to consider that may be an additional charge:

Size/Scope/Level of Difficulty for project

Logistics/Number of people required

Safco's case goods are easy to assemble and configure, and our line of quick-ship products provides fast, convenient solutions. As a full-line provider with a wide selection of products, Safco can be a single source solution for all furniture needs. Human Elements-Ancillary categories that fit in the related products category and add value to Safco's customers.

Ergonomic Essentials, from sitting to standing, these ergonomic essentials move with you throughout the day to keep your body in harmony.

Waste Receptacles: Our line of waste and recycling receptacles can help keep any work environment clean. Safco has indoor/outdoor trash cans, under-desk wastebaskets, large-capacity trash and recycling centers, customizable options, and more to fit every waste need.

Past Experience:

Safco is not new to public sector business, as we have held this contract for the past 10 years. I was the contract manager that bid that contract for legacy Mayline, before Safco purchased the assets of Mayline. My position requirement was to grow contract sales, but I needed a solution for states with no state contract options, to fill in the gaps for states with limited product categories on their contract, and a contract that would satisfy the “3 bid” rule, as an alternative to formal bidding. It had to be a competitively bid contract that allowed education, non-profit, municipalities, and state agencies to purchase quality product at a competitive price. We found it with Omnia_NIPA and reassigned the contract to Safco during the acquisition 3 years ago. We started out slow, but every year since then, we have seen growth in this contract, making it our largest national cooperative purchasing contract, with annual sales reaching $3 million. The future is bright. We have several projects on the horizon, and many dealers that have standardized on the previous Omnia Partners contract and look forward to continuing the relationships that are already in place. Safco looks forward to increasing our market share through company dedication, Omnia’s Partner Development connection, and variety of eye-catching web pages and marketing materials.

WHO WAS THE END CUSTOMER?

Washington and Lee University - Department of Advanced Education; Lexington, Virginia

WHAT PROBLEM DID THE END CUSTOMER WANT TO SOLVE?

To make way for a new Center for Academic Resources, the school's library needed to relocate all books and volumes from an upper floor down to the basement. The move required finding a way to dramatically increase the storage capacity of the building's lowest level.

WHICH SAFCO® PRODUCTS WERE SELECTED AND WHY?

Chosen for their smaller footprints and higher storage capacities, Safco's Mobile 1000™ and 4-Post Shelving products replaced the library basement's traditional stacks of static cantilever shelving, which – even if increased – could not have provided the storage capacity the university required.

HOW DID THE SAFCO PRODUCTS SOLVE THE END CUSTOMER'S PROBLEM?

With multiple high-density systems installed on its slab-on-grade floor, Safco's Mobile 1000 and 4-Post Shelving significantly increased the storage capacity of the university library's basement. In addition, the use of Safco's high-density storage solutions in the library helped the university avoid other potentially more costly alternatives such as constructing a new building or repurposing another structure on campus.

WHAT OTHER FEATURES OF THE SAFCO PRODUCTS HAVE BENEFITTED THE END CUSTOMER?

- 4-Post Shelving offers the university increased capacity by utilizing taller, 97"-high uprights and offering eight tiers of shelves that adjust at 1½" increments to accommodate different sizes of media
- Adjustable dividers on the shelves offer added vertical support to books and media, keeping them upright, organized and easily accessible
- Mobile 1000's easy-to-move mechanical assist allows the staff to shift 10,000 lbs. of equipment and media weight by using just 1 lb. of effort
- Range safety locks complete with locking red and green indicators in the handles easily allow university users to know when an aisle is in use or available to move
- All-steel, non-grouted track offers an easier option for future expansion or equipment relocation
- All-steel, full-height end panels add a great aesthetic to both mobile and fixed ranges to complement the library surroundings
- An incline ramp allows staff to push book carts in and out of the aisles with ease when re-shelving books

TIME TO MOVE TO THE BASEMENT!

Rapides Regional Medical Center in Alexandria, Louisiana had outgrown their records storage on the third floor of their facility and wanted to utilize the basement of the building which afforded them more storage space. Kelli B. Campbell, RRA, Medical Records Service Coordinator, called upon the Mayline dealer sales representative in their area, Phil Jordan of Sayes Office Supply, to solve their high density storage issues. After evaluating the space, the media to be stored and other challenges of moving to the basement, Phil contacted Mayline Space Planning and Sales to assist in maximizing and utilizing the new space with the available footprint to effectively meet current and future storage requirements. Phil presented Mayline's Mobile Aisle Storage Systems to his customer - a solution to achieve easier accessibility, greater security and increased productivity through design, in addition to increased storage capacity of more than 50%. RRMC is a perfect example of where Mobile Aisle Storage Systems can help control rising costs by creating more "people" space and increased storage capacity.

There are many building and user considerations when planning and installing a high density storage system and that is where dealer experience and the expertise that the Mayline Team offers can be critical. Kelli wanted to reuse an old existing mobile storage system that was not flexible or compatible with the Mobile Aisle System. The dealer was able to utilize the shelving from the old system along the walls of the basement for additional storage to save the customer money on this $200,000 list project. Other recommendations after Space Planning and Sales reviewed the layout were to pour a slab of concrete to level the floor which had a 4 ½" rise and to make sure the height of the system did not impede the sprinkler systems and other code requirements. RRMC was not able to accept the delivery of the product upon arrival because the rework of the basement area had not been completed, but Sayes Office Supply was able to warehouse the shipment at no additional cost to the customer. This project was an example of a real team effort utilizing the dealer, Sayes Office Supply, Mayline's rep, John Windham of Buddy Brown Associates, and Mayline's Space Planning and Sales group to provide storage solutions and reach the goal of a satisfied customer!
