Public Notices

Public Notices are a permanent and independent record of government and court actions. These include state and local government meetings, rule making, available contracts, zoning changes, and many more, as required by law. In addition, parties to some court proceedings, such as foreclosures, probate, and estate actions are required to publish notices to ensure notification of affected parties, as well as the general public. These notices also alert business owners, large and small, to potential government contractual jobs, helping to ensure economic activity across a level playing field. Public notices have existed to ensure transparency in all levels of government since the founding of the United States.

State and local notices are published in Maine newspapers and are also recorded at mainenotices.com, where anyone can browse or search notices, and sign up to receive email alerts when relevant notices appear.

Public Notices

Public Notices are a permanent and independent record of government and court actions. These include state and local government meetings, rule making, available contracts, zoning changes, and many more, as required by law. In addition, parties to some court proceedings, such as foreclosures, probate, and estate actions are required to publish notices to ensure notification of affected parties, as well as the general public. These notices also alert business owners, large and small, to potential government contractual jobs, helping to ensure economic activity across a level playing field. Public notices have existed to ensure transparency in all levels of government since the founding of the United States.

State and local notices are published in Maine newspapers and are also recorded at mainenotices.com, where anyone can browse or search notices, and sign up to receive email alerts when relevant notices appear.

Serena to play at Wimbledon after yearlong tennis hiatus

Nancy Armour
USA TODAY

We have not seen the last of Serena Williams. Wimbledon said on Tuesday it has awarded the 23-time major champion a wild card for this year’s tournament, and the Lawn Tennis Association said she will play doubles with world No. 4 Ons Jabeur at the Eastbourne International next week. The announcements followed Williams’ Instagram post in which she teased that she would play Wimbledon, ending a yearlong absence from tennis. “SW and SW19. It’s a date. 2022 See you there,” Williams wrote in the caption of the photo, which showed her wearing all-white shoes with her tennis bag in the background. SW19 is the postal code for Wimbledon. Williams also tagged Wimbledon and Eastbourne, a tournament that is traditionally a warm-up for Wimbledon, in the photo. Williams hasn’t played since withdrawing in the first round of last year’s Wimbledon after slipping and injuring her ankle. With few updates about her health, and with longtime coach Patrick Mouratoglou now working with Simona Halep, some had suggested the 40-year-old would quietly retire. But Williams clearly has other plans. Doubles play at Eastbourne begins Monday, though the LTA said Williams and Jabeur likely won’t play before Tuesday. Wimbledon begins June 27. “I am excited to return to the Rothesay International tournament in England and to be back on the grass – a surface that has been so good to me throughout my career,” Williams said in the statement announcing her wild card for Eastbourne. “Eastbourne has a unique charm that you don’t see anywhere else on Tour and I’m looking forward to playing in front of the fans again.” Williams has won Wimbledon seven times, most recently in 2016. She reached the final in 2018 and 2019. Williams’ 23 Grand Slam titles are one shy of Margaret Court’s record.

Finally, a Stanley Cup Final worth watching

Michael Arace
The Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch
USA TODAY Network

The Tampa Bay Lightning and Colorado Avalanche are playing for the Stanley Cup starting on Wednesday, and it will be a singular Final series. Indeed, never before have two teams with singular nicknames met with hockey’s highest piece of hardware on the line. And they’re both forces of nature. Are the Minnesota Wild a force of nature? Or the Seattle Kraken?

One could argue this singular matchup is the most compelling Final in more than a decade, or since the Pittsburgh Penguins-Detroit Red Wings clashes in 2008 and ’09. I would argue that.

The Penguins of 2016 and ’17 and the Red Wings of 1997 and ’98 are the last two teams to win back-to-back titles. They flirted with dynasticism. But like the Chicago Blackhawks and the Los Angeles Kings of the era, they didn’t quite get there.

The 1980s New York Islanders won four Cups in a row. The 1970s Montreal Canadiens won four in a row and six in nine years. The 1980s Edmonton Oilers won four in five years and five in seven. It used to be a thing. Now, in a post-expansion age, the NHL is a much different league with a salary cap, an effective players union, parity and so forth. Dynasties may be a thing of the past.

Or maybe the Lightning, who can become the first team in 40 years to win three Cups in a row, will be the last. All the Lightning have to do is get through the best in the league.

The Avalanche are awesome. They’re the highest-scoring team in the playoffs with 4.64 goals per game. The Avs are wicked fast, and they’re also big enough to grind. Coming off a sweep of the McDavids in the Western Conference final, they’re also the fresher team.

Their deep corps of forwards is led by superstar center Nathan MacKinnon, who has been on a mission since the Avs were eliminated in the second round last year. Their captain, Gabriel Landeskog, is a hoss. Their talented defense is led by Cale Makar, who is drawing comparisons to Bobby Orr. And rightly so.

They believe it is their time. They look a lot like the 1984 Oilers, the team that ended the Islanders’ four-year reign and established their own dynasty. (Or, do they look a lot like the 1983 Oilers, who were swept by the Isles?)

As for the Lightning, they understand they’re on the other side of their peak. They’ve played 65 playoff games, more than any other team, over the past three years. How much do they have left in the tank?

The Bolts are also aware that there is a “dynasty” tag to be gotten here. Three in a row – nobody does that anymore. They have 16 players on their roster who’ve won at least one Stanley Cup and 13 who wore Lightning-blue when they won it all last year.

They have matured to a point where they seem impossible to eliminate. They looked beatable in the first and third rounds and came back to win both series. Their motto is “defend to the end.”

Tampa Bay captain Steven Stamkos is playing like he still feels underrated. In the deciding Game 6 against the New York Rangers, Stamkos: beat all-world goalie Igor Shesterkin from distance, sat in the penalty box and watched the Rangers tie the score with a power-play goal, came out of the box and scored the game-winner. That is a star with a sense of the moment.

This series is tough to call. If you think speed will prevail, go with the Avs. They’re in another warp class than the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Rangers (and on par with the Florida Panthers).

These Avs are vastly superior to the 2020 Dallas Stars and the 2021 Canadiens, the teams the Lightning beat to win their last two Stanley Cups. These Avs also have home-ice advantage.

Yet I’m having a difficult time picking them.

An injury could tilt the scale one way or another. Right now, it looks like Mr. Clutch Brayden Point will return to play for Tampa Bay in the Final, while Nazem Kadri – a critical piece for Colorado – and Andrew Cogliano remain questionable. Advantage, Bolts.

As for intangibles: Just as Stamkos is motivated for a showdown against MacKinnon, so is defenseman Victor Hedman looking forward to sharing ice with “Bobby Orr” Makar – the current favorite to win the Conn Smythe.

And then there is Lightning goalie Andrei Vasilevski, the greatest net-minder of his generation. He has won 11 consecutive playoff series with a 2.11 goals-against average and a .930 save percentage. His performances in closeout games are the stuff of legend.

During this postseason, the Avs have picked apart David Rittich, Connor Ingram, Jordan Binnington, Ville Husso and Mike Smith. Which is to say they have yet to see anything close to Vasilevski.

Any vacillation about picking a winner in what will be a hotly contested battle of titanic teams ends with a Vasil-lation.

Lightning in six.

PREDICTIONS FOR WHO WILL BE NEXT CHAMPION

Tampa Bay Lightning captain Steven Stamkos thought his team would face the Colorado Avalanche at some point during their three consecutive runs to the Stanley Cup Final.

The Avalanche broke through this season after several early exits, and they’re looking forward to facing the Lightning. “To be the best, you’ve got to beat the best, and these guys are defending back-to-back Stanley Cup champions, so we’re excited,” Colorado captain Gabriel Landeskog said.

This is a matchup of two of the top skilled teams in the league. Though the Lightning have the edge in net with Andrei Vasilevski, each team has a Norris Trophy finalist, high-scoring lines and plenty of depth.

USA TODAY Sports’ NHL staffers predict who will win the Stanley Cup:

Mike Brehm: Avalanche in 7. Everything is telling me to pick the Lightning, especially with Vasilevski in net. But I had chosen the Avalanche before the playoffs and had Cale Makar winning the Conn Smythe Trophy. I believe he can be the difference in a hard-fought series.

Jace Evans: Lightning in 6. I picked Tampa Bay over Colorado before the season started so I feel compelled to stick with that pick now that they’re facing off for the Stanley Cup with history on the line. The Avalanche are a fantastic team and have been knocking on the door for a while, but the Bolts have a decisive edge in net that will prove to be the difference in them securing the threeppeat.

Mary Clarke, For The Win: Lightning in 6. The Lightning are a well-oiled machine and are poised to win their third Stanley Cup in a row, cementing them as one of the greatest NHL dynasties of all time. When rolling, this Tampa team is a hard one to stop, though the Avalanche will certainly give it their all to stop them with their own brand of electric hockey. In the end, however, this Lightning team – backed by the best goaltender of our age, Vasilevski – will win out in a close, exciting series.
